News, deals and shameless propaganda!

Love is in the Air at Rockin' Roxy's!!

It's always a joy to watch dogs who don't normally socialize find a friend in daycare. Rudy, the world's sketchiest mini-aussie, loves to come to daycare, but until recently he wouldn't go near the other dogs. Enter 4-month-old cockapoo, Gucci. It was love at first sight. These two are inseparable best friends. I can almost hear the usually-taciturn Rudy giggling. Thanks, Kathi, for bringing Rudy a friend!

Many thanks to all you wonderful neighbors with vision who manage to put bulbs in the frozen earth in the dead of winter. The daffodils, crocus and hyacinth that line our streets make every dog walk pure joy (see below).

Gigi the Daffodil

Speaking of walks, Daisy and Shelby are a couple of labs that love being together and doing all things lab – chasing the ball, swimming, running – but they don't really love other dogs. So we take them on long walks twice a week in their neighborhood, or at North Clackamas or Sellwood Park, depending on our moods.

Dog walks are available by appointment.

BLATANT COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

Customer Appreciation Month

It's always Customer Appreciation Month at Rockin' Roxy's, and right now we are offering you something super special – one free night of boarding with at least one other night paid. This offer is good until the end of June and cannot be used on Memorial Day or 4th of July weekends. Please remind us that you would like to use your free night when you book your stay.

Most of you know we have simplified our package prices, lowering them in the process. Check them out online at www.rockinroxys.com. And don't forget if you refer someone you get a free day of daycare. If you refer a new customer who buys a package, tell me and I'll give you 50% off your next package purchase.

REVIEWS

Most of our business is generated by word-of-mouth and the internet. It's always a challenge to keep a small business afloat but in this economy, the challenge is epic. Your reviews not only keep us on our toes, they keep us in business. I cannot express enough how grateful I am to those of you who have taken the time to share your experiences at Rockin' Roxy's on the review sites, such as Yelp, and on our own website, rockinroxys.com. Thanks, Martha (Odin's mom) and Beth (Pele's mom) for your rave reviews!

And if you haven't voted for us yet in Spot Magazine as your favorite daycare and boarding facility for Spot's Top Dog awards, you still can vote at www.spotmagazine.net.

BOARDERS OF THE MONTH

Noggin in Repose (ok, I took this one)

Spring break gave us so many dogs to choose from, it's almost impossible to decide who to honor. Noggin, the winsome border collie, has been chosen by us for her easy demeanor and sweet personality. It's impossible not to fall in love with her over and over again. Thanks, David and Elaine, for trusting us to take care of your precious, senior friend. It's always an honor.

Lucy Hits the Sauce

At the other end of the age spectrum, five-month-old Lucy is the only pooch that can keep her totally crazy, separated-at-birth twin, Petunia, completely occupied. Sweet Lucy not only plays hard (see photo above) she loves hard. It's always great fun having her at Rockin' Roxy's and we welcome her back anytime for daycare or sleepovers.

Rockin' News

Junior Toby Roxy Littleman

Adios, Toby!

Long-time client and friend, Susie Hotz, has taken her Lhasa Apso, Toby, and moved to California. We miss them very much and welcome them back anytime.

From the Frontlines

Meary is four months old now and Jeka is back at work – it's about time, I say!! You can catch Jeka at least 3 days a week, usually in the morning.

I'm sad to say that Jenny is moving back to California. We'll miss her very much but are happy to offer a low-paying gig scooping poop to our dear friend, Veronica, mother of golden retrievers Bear and Scout. As long as she stays in school and doesn't get deployed you'll find her here with us at Rockin' Roxy's!

Tristan wrapped up his vacation in New Orleans just in time for Ella and me to go to our old stomping grounds, San Francisco. We spent a week visiting old friends and checking in on family, and now we're glad to be home.

March and April Birthdays!
